Payment Options

Stony Brook University Hospital recognizes that there are times when patients in need of care will have difficulty paying for services provided. The hospital's financial assistance program provides discounts to qualifying individuals, based on income.

Who qualifies for a discount?

Financial assistance is available to patients who have limited income, have no health insurance or are underinsured. You cannot be denied medically necessary care because you need financial assistance. You may apply for a discount regardless of immigration status. Everyone in New York State who needs emergency services and non-emergency, medically necessary services at Stony Brook University Hospital can receive care and may be eligible for assistance based on income limits that have been established by federal guidelines.

What if I do not meet the income limits?

If you cannot pay your bill, Stony Brook University Hospital offers a payment plan to those patients who meet the income limits. The amount you pay depends on your income. We also extend payment plans to payments who exceed income limits.

Can someone explain the discount? Can someone help me apply?

Yes. Free confidential help is available. Call our Financial Aid Unit at 631-444-4331. If you do not speak English, someone will help you in your own language. The financial counselor can tell you if you qualify for free or low-cost insurance, such as Medicaid, Family Health Plus and Child Health Plus.

If the counselor finds that you don't qualify for low-cost insurance, he or she will help you apply for a discount. The counselor will help you fill out the forms and tell you what documents you need to bring.

How do I apply for a discount?

A financial assistance application is available online at stonybrookmedicine.edu/billing/information. You may also pick up an application from the cashier in the Emergency Department, the main cashier on Level 5 of the hospital or the Patient Accounts Office at 31 Research Way in East Setauket. A financial assistance application will be sent to you upon your request if you call our Financial Aid Unit at 631-444-4331. You will need to supply copies of all requested documentation. If you cannot provide these, you may still be eligible to apply for financial assistance.

What services are covered?

All medically necessary services provided by Stony Brook University Hospital are covered by the discount. This includes outpatient services, emergency care and inpatient admissions. Charges from private doctors who provide services in the hospital may not be covered. Talk to your private doctor to see if they offer a discount or payment plan.

How much do I have to pay?

The amount for outpatient services or emergency care starts at $0 for children and women who are pregnant, depending on income. The amount for outpatient services or the emergency room starts at $15 for adults, depending on income. A financial counselor will give you the details about your specific discount(s) once your application is processed. If a deposit is required for certain elective procedures, the deposit will be reduced by your financial aid status.

How do I get the discount?

Fill out the application form. As soon as we have proof of your income, we can process your application according to your income level. You can apply for a discount before you have an appointment, when you come to the hospital for care or when the bill comes in the mail. Send the completed form to Stony Brook University Hospital, P.O. Box 1546, Stony Brook, NY 11790-9113. You have up to 90 days after receiving services to submit the application.

How will I know if I am approved for a discount?

Stony Brook University Hospital will send you a letter within 30 days after completion and submission of documentation to let you know whether or not you have been approved, as well as the level of discount received.

What happens if I receive a bill while I'm waiting to hear if I get a discount?

You cannot be required to pay a hospital bill while your application for a discount is being considered. If your application is denied, the hospital must explain why in writing and provide you with a way to appeal this decision to a higher level within the hospital.

What if I have a problem that I cannot resolve with the hospital?

You may call the New York State Department of Health Complaint Hotline at 800-804-5447.

Breastfeeding Mothers' Bill of Rights

Choosing how to feed her new baby is one of the important decisions a mother can make in preparing for her infant's arrival. Doctors agree that for most women, breastfeeding is the safest and healthiest choice. It is your right to be informed about the benefits of breastfeeding, and to have your health care provider, maternal health care facility, and child day care facility encourage and support breastfeeding. You have the right to make your own choice about breastfeeding. Whether you choose to breastfeed or not, you have the rights listed below, regardless of your race, creed, national origin, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, or source of payment for your health care. Maternal health care facilities have a responsibility to ensure that you understand these rights. They must provide this information clearly for you, and must provide an interpreter, if necessary. These rights may be limited only in cases where your health or the health of your baby requires it. If any of the following things are not medically right for you or your baby, you should be fully informed of the facts and be consulted.

(1) Before You Deliver:

If you attend prenatal childbirth education classes (those provided by the maternal health care facility and by all hospital clinics and diagnostic and treatment centers providing prenatal services in accordance with Article 28 of the Public Health Law), then you must receive the Breastfeeding Mothers' Bill of Rights. Each maternal health care facility shall provide the maternity information leaflet, including the Breastfeeding Mothers' Bill of Rights, to each patient or to the appointed personal representative at the time of prebooking or time of admission to a maternal health care facility.

You have the right to receive complete information about the benefits of breastfeeding for yourself and your baby. This will help you make an informed choice on how to feed your baby.

You have the right to receive information that is free of commercial interests and includes:

- How breastfeeding benefits you and your baby nutritionally, medically and emotionally;
- How to prepare yourself for breastfeeding;
- How to understand some of the problems you may face and how to solve them.

(2) In The Maternal Health Care Facility:

- You have the right to have your baby stay with you right after birth, whether you deliver vaginally or by cesarean section.
- You have the right to begin breastfeeding within one hour after birth.
- You have the right to get help from someone who is trained in breastfeeding.
- You have the right to have your baby not receive any bottle feeding or pacifiers.
- You have the right to know about and refuse any drugs that may dry up your milk.
- You have the right to have your baby in your room with you 24 hours a day.
- You have the right to breastfeed your baby at any time day or night.

- You have the right to know if your doctor or your baby’s pediatrician is advising against breastfeeding before any feeding decisions are made.
- You have the right to have a sign on your baby’s crib clearly stating that your baby is breastfeeding and that no bottle feeding of any type is to be offered.
- You have the right to receive full information about how you are doing with breastfeeding, and to get help on how to improve.
- You have the right to breastfeed your baby in the neonatal intensive care unit. If nursing is not possible, every attempt will be made to have your baby receive your pumped or expressed milk.
- If you – or your baby – are re-hospitalized in a maternal health care facility after the initial delivery stay, the hospital will make every effort to continue to support breastfeeding, and to provide hospital-grade electric pumps and rooming-in facilities.
- You have the right to get help from someone specially trained in breastfeeding support, if your baby has special needs.
- You have the right to have a family member or friend receive breastfeeding information from a staff member, if you request it.

(3) When You Leave The Maternal Health Care Facility:

- You have the right to printed breastfeeding information free of commercial material.
- You have the right, unless specifically requested by you, and available at the facility, to be discharged from the facility without discharge packs containing infant formula, or formula coupons unless ordered by your baby’s health care provider.
- You have the right to get information about breastfeeding resources in your community, including information on availability of breastfeeding consultants, support groups, and breast pumps.
- You have the right to have the facility give you information to help you choose a medical provider for your baby, and to help you understand the importance of a follow-up appointment.
- You have the right to receive information about safely collecting and storing your breast milk.
- You have the right to breastfeed your baby in any location, public or private, where you are otherwise authorized to be. Complaints can be directed to the New York State Division of Human Rights.
- You have a right to breastfeed your baby at your place of employment or child day care center in an environment that does not discourage breastfeeding or the provision of breast milk.
- Under section 206-c of the Labor Law, for up to three years following childbirth, you have the right to take reasonable unpaid break time or to use paid break time or meal time each day, so that you can express breast milk at work. Your employer must make reasonable efforts to provide a room or another location, in close proximity to your work area, where you can express breast milk in private. Your employer may not discriminate against you based on your decision to express breast milk at work. Complaints can be directed to the New York State Department of Labor.

These are your rights. If the maternal health care facility does not honor these rights, you can seek help by contacting the New York State Department of Health, or by contacting the hospital complaint hotline at 1-800-804-5447; or via email at hospinfo@health.ny.gov.

Pain Management

Pain relief is an important part of your healthcare, your recovery and your comfort. Controlling pain can help you heal faster. Less pain will help you regain your strength more quickly and allow you to resume normal function sooner.

Pain Management is a way to recognize and treat discomfort that comes with diagnosis, disease or treatment. Our healthcare team will work closely with you to achieve a good level of comfort for you.

Here are some things you can do to help manage your pain while you are in the hospital.

- Ask the team about level of pain or discomfort that you may experience.
- It is easier to prevent serious pain than to lessen it after it has taken hold.
- Ask about a plan for pain control.
- Request pain relief medicine when the discomfort first begins.
- If you know your pain will worsen when beginning activity or breathing exercises, take pain medication first.
- Discuss with your nurse or health care provider any concerns you may have about the use of pain medications.

Here are some other things to do to relieve pain that do not involve pain medicine.

- Change your position often
- Apply ice/heat as prescribed by your doctor
- Use relaxation techniques, such as abdominal breathing and progressive muscle tension/relaxation; ask your nurse if you need help doing these
- Distraction techniques such as music, television, relaxation CDs, counting backwards, hand crafts, crossword puzzles, Sudoku, exercises and socializing via the phone and internet
- Schedule activities and rest periods
- Spiritual/pastoral care
- Counseling
- Tune into Channel 19 for the free relaxation television channel

Please alert the staff of pain that is not relieved by the above techniques, or if you are having breathing problems or other reactions that may be medicine related.

In order to stay on top of the pain, the staff will often ask what your level of pain is, even when you are resting, to make sure we know your response to the pain medicines we have given you.

Patient Pain Bill of Rights

As a patient at Stony Brook University Hospital, you can expect:

- To receive information regarding pain and the management of pain.
- A concerned staff committed to pain prevention.
- Dedicated healthcare professionals who respond quickly to reports of pain.
- State-of-the-art pain management
- Your expression of pain to be accepted and managed accordingly.

Pain Scale

Please use a number from the scale to help describe your pain.

Things You Can Do to Ensure Medication Safety

- Share with your healthcare provider a list of all your current medicines, vitamins, herbs and supplements.
- Know what medications you are receiving in the hospital and why you are receiving them.
- Ask your healthcare provider how a new medicine will help. Ask about possible side effects. Ask for written information about the medicine, including its brand and generic names.
- Tell your healthcare provider if you don't feel well after receiving a medicine. If you think you are having a reaction or experiencing side effects, ask for help immediately.
- Don't be afraid to tell your healthcare provider if you think you are about to get the wrong medicine.
- Remind your healthcare provider about allergies that you have or negative reactions you have had to other medicines.
- Be aware that your healthcare providers will be checking your wristband and asking your name and date of birth prior to procedures or administering medications.
- Before you leave the hospital, make sure that you understand all of the instructions for the medicines you will need to keep taking and the medicines you will no longer need to take.
- Ask any questions you may have about any of your medications.
- Read the label on your prescription medicine. Make sure that it has your name on it and the correct medicine name and dosage. Some medicines have similar names and can be easily confused with each other. Make sure that your medication looks the same as it normally does. If something doesn't match, ask your healthcare provider immediately.
- Take your medicine as prescribed, and do not stop taking it without first speaking with your healthcare provider.
- If you receive a prescription for antibiotics, use all the medication as prescribed until it is finished. Never use antibiotics prescribed for someone else or give someone else your medications.

Preventing Blood Clots

Keeping yourself safe from a blood clot: in the hospital and at home.

Blood clots are one of the leading causes of death in the United States. When you are ill you are not very mobile and blood can pool in your veins and cause a clot. Some risk factors are being a patient in the hospital, having surgery or cancer and being pregnant. Having a personal or family history of blood clots also puts you at a higher risk.

Deep vein thrombosis (DVT) is a blood clot in a deep vein. DVTs usually occur in the legs, though they can occur in the arms or other deep veins in the body. These blood clots can be dangerous if they break off and travel to the lungs.

When this happens, it causes a serious, possibly life-threatening condition called a pulmonary embolism (PE).

Symptoms of a DVT can include new swelling, redness or warmth in your arm or leg. Symptoms of a PE can include shortness of breath, chest or back pain with a deep breath or a fast heart rate. Report any of these symptoms to your nurse right away. To help prevent a DVT/PE your healthcare team will order some prevention—usually a shot or pill and/or compression stockings on your legs or sequential compression devices on your legs or feet. Sequential compression devices (SCDs) gently squeeze the legs to improve blood flow and prevent clots from forming.

These should be worn anytime you are not walking. For more information, ask your nurse or provider.

Your Rights and Protections Against Surprise Medical Bills

When you get emergency care or are treated by an out-of-network provider at an in-network hospital or ambulatory surgical center, you are protected from balance billing. In these cases, you shouldn't be charged more than your plan's copayments, coinsurance and/or deductible.

What is "balance billing" (sometimes called "surprise billing")?

When you see a doctor or other health care provider, you may owe certain out-of-pocket costs, like a copayment, coinsurance, or deductible. You may have additional costs or have to pay the entire bill if you see a provider or visit a health care facility that isn't in your health plan's network.

"Out-of-network" means providers and facilities that haven't signed a contract with your health plan to provide services. Out-of-network providers may be allowed to bill you for the difference between what your plan pays and the full amount charged for a service. This is called "balance billing." This amount is likely more than in-network costs for the same service and might not count toward your plan's deductible or annual out-of-pocket limit.

"Surprise billing" is an unexpected balance bill. This can happen when you can't control who is involved in your care—like when you have an emergency or when you schedule a visit at an in-network facility but are unexpectedly treated by an out-of-network provider. Surprise medical bills could cost thousands of dollars depending on the procedure or service.

You're protected from balance billing for:

Emergency services

If you have an emergency medical condition and get emergency services from an out-of-network provider or hospital, the most they can bill you is your plan's in-network cost-sharing amount (such as copayments, coinsurance, and deductibles). You can't be balance billed for these emergency services. This includes services you may get after you're in a stable condition, unless you give written consent and give up your protections not to be balance billed for these post-stabilization services. If your insurance ID card says "fully insured coverage," you can't give written consent and give up your protections not to be balance billed for post-stabilization services.

Certain services at an in-network hospital or ambulatory surgical center

When you get services from an in-network hospital or ambulatory surgical center, certain providers there may be out-of-network. In these cases, the most those providers can bill you is your plan's in-network cost-sharing amount. This applies to emergency medicine, anesthesia, pathology, radiology, laboratory, neonatology, assistant surgeon, hospitalist, and intensivist services. These providers can't balance bill you and may not ask you to give up your protections not to be balance billed. 12/17/21

If you get other types of services at these in-network facilities, out-of-network providers can't balance bill you, unless you give written consent and give up your protections. If your insurance ID card says "fully insured coverage," you can't give up your protections for these other services if they are a surprise bill. Surprise bills are when you're at an in-network hospital or ambulatory surgical facility and a participating doctor was not available, a non-participating doctor provided services without your knowledge, or unforeseen medical services were provided.

Services referred by your in-network doctor

If your insurance ID card says “fully insured coverage,” surprise bills include when your in-network doctor refers you to an out-of-network provider without your consent (including lab and pathology services). These providers can’t balance bill you and may not ask you to give up your protections not to be balance billed. You may need to sign a form (available on the Department of Financial Services’ website) for the full balance billing protection to apply.

You’re never required to give up your protections from balance billing. You also aren’t required to get out-of-network care. You can choose a provider or facility in your plan’s network.

When balance billing isn’t allowed, you also have these protections:

- You’re only responsible for paying your share of the cost (like the copayments, coinsurance, and deductibles that you would pay if the provider or facility was in-network). Your health plan will pay any additional costs to out-of-network providers and facilities directly.
- Generally, your health plan must:
 - Cover emergency services without requiring you to get approval for services in advance (also known as “prior authorization”).
 - Cover emergency services by out-of-network providers.
 - Base what you owe the provider or facility (cost-sharing) on what it would pay an in-network provider or facility and show that amount in your explanation of benefits.
 - Count any amount you pay for emergency services or out-of-network services toward your in-network deductible and out-of-pocket limit.

If you think you’ve been wrongly billed and your coverage is subject to New York law (“fully insured coverage”), contact the New York State Department of Financial Services at (800) 342-3736 or surprisemedicalbills@dfs.ny.gov. Visit <http://www.dfs.ny.gov> for information about your rights under state law.
